Maurice Clerc

MAURICE CLERC has given about 900 organ recitals in more than twenty countries, including nineteen tours of North America. In his performances on four continents in twenty-five years, he has played at Notre-Dame in Paris, St-Patrick's Cathedral in New York, the Dom in Lübeck, Basilica of San Marco in Venice, St Joseph Oratory in Montreal, St-Paul's Cathedral in Melbourne, the N.H.K. auditorium in Tokyo, and the Cultural Centre in Hong Kong, among many others.

Born in Lyon, France, in 1946, Clerc studied the organ with Suzanne Chaisemartin at the Ecole Normale de Musique de Paris. He then studied at the Conservatoire National Supérieur de Musique de Paris where, in 1975, he obtained a First Prize for organ in the class of Rolande Falcinelli. In 1977, he obtained the Prize for Improvisation at the Lyon International Competition. In 1972, he was appointed Titular Organist at St-Bénigne's Cathedral in Dijon, France. He also teaches at the Conservatoire National de Région in Dijon and for twenty years has been Assistant Lecturer at Dijon University.

Clerc has made numerous recordings of Bach and other German baroque composers, and has also long been regarded as a specialist on French organ music of the 19th and 20th centuries.

From the Dean

Fall has arrived with trumpet blasts and serene strings. Leaves fall like arpeggios and frost covers the morning grass in staccato gestures. Can you tell I like the fall season? I always have. It's an innate sense of gathering, preparing and anticipation of the holidays — Halloween, Thanksgiving, and of course Christmas — that draws me to this particular part of the yearly cycle.

As we look toward (and hopefully already have planned music for) these celebrations, I can't help but wonder what you'll be playing and singing in your setting. Are you trying new ideas and scores? Are you retelling stories through your congregation's favorite chestnuts? At Holy Trinity we do a bit of both, thus offering something for everyone. I am grateful to serve in a place that honors both tradition and innovation. I hope you can say the same.

Your dean and sub-dean also try to offer variety as we plan our chapter programming. A member's recital and a decidedly lighter (though not easy) concert have been offered so far this season. Next, we turn to a more discerning program of French masterworks offered by an internationally renowned French artist. I hope you will be in attendance!

Beth and Ray Chenult and Pam Ingram again provided a most gracious and beautiful setting for our October program. Thank you. As I write this, I'm looking forward to our second annual collaboration with the Atlanta Chapter ATOS. I hope your attendance at this event will prove that we should continue these events in the future.

AGO provides a unique opportunity to share our love of the pipe organ with like-minded folk. It really doesn't matter what is played, whether hymns, literature or movie scores. The binding factor is an appreciation for the sound of the organ! For that we all should give thanks.

I wish for you and yours a warm and wonderful Thanksgiving celebration later this month. And as always, I look forward to seeing YOU at our next meeting.

Take care,

Tim Young, Dean

Nathaniel Gumbs, organ

On Wednesday, November 14, 2012 at 7:30 p.m., organist Nathaniel Gumbs will give a recital at Spelman College, in Sisters Chapel. Admission is free.

Gumbs, a native of the Bronx, NY, graduated from Shenandoah Conservatory of Shenandoah University in Winchester, VA, where he received the Bachelor of Music Degree in Organ Performance, studying under Dr. Steven Cooksey. He received the Master of Music degree in Organ Performance from Yale University, Institute of Sacred Music in New Haven, CT, studying under Martin Jean. He has also received the Service Playing and Colleague Certifications from the American Guild of Organists.

Nat presently serves as the Organist and Interim Director of Music and Arts at Friendship Missionary Baptist Church in Charlotte, NC.

Caroline Thomas, soprano

The Pro-Mozart Society of Atlanta presents soprano Caroline Thomas, professor of voice at the Hochschule für Musik in Detmold, Germany, in recital at Peachtree Christian Church on Sunday, November 18 at 3:00 p.m. The recital, featuring a little known song cycle by Richard Wagner and operatic arias by Wagner, Gluck, Mozart, Puccini, and Verdi, will be accompanied in transcription on the monumental Peachtree Christian Church organ featuring the orchestral stops of the chancel organ by Henry Pilcher's Sons. A meet-the-artist reception will follow in the church's Stew Wood Hall.

Caroline Thomas, a native of Smyrna, Georgia, studied voice at Wesleyan College in Macon and the University of Tennessee as well as the Juilliard School and the Curtis Institute before becoming Prima Donna of the Munster Opera Company in Germany for a decade. Now a college professor, Thomas continues an active schedule of recital and concert appearances with orchestras in Europe and the United States.

Professor Thomas will also give a public voice master class at The Lovett School (chorus room) on Saturday, November 17 at 10:00 a.m.

Thomas will be accompanied in these appearances by Randy Elkins.

Executive Board Minutes

There was no meeting in October of the board. The next meeting is scheduled for November 10 at 10:30 AM, Chamblee First United Methodist Church.

Membership Committee Report

Following the success of the 2011-2012 campaign, the national office is repeating "Grow the Guild" for the 2012-2013 season. This is a grass-roots campaign to strengthen American Guild of Organists' membership nationwide as chapters focus on recruitment and retention.

At the heart of "Grow the Guild" is the challenge for a chapter to increase its membership by 5%. The campaign is already underway and will continue through May 31, 2013. Each chapter that has a 5% net growth in membership is eligible for a prize drawing of $500.

As of October 1 the Atlanta chapter has approximately 285 qualifying members with 20 of these being new members. A goal of 310 qualifying members has been set...which means that 25 additional members are needed by May 31, 2013.

Please contact me at sampolk722@yahoo.com with names of prospects if you feel the membership committee can be of assistance.

Sam Polk
Membership Committee Chair

Collegium Vocale

Collegium Vocale Community Chorus presents Karl Jenkins' Stabat Mater on Saturday, Nov. 10, at 8 p.m. at Porter Sanford III Performing Arts Center in Decatur. The performance is a collaboration with the University of West Georgia Choirs and Carroll Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Kevin Hibbard. For ticket information, go to cvchorus.org.

Chapter Meeting Minutes

The Atlanta Chapter of the American Guild of Organists met at All Saints' Episcopal Church on October 9, 2012. Dean Tim Young called the meeting to order at 7:22 PM. He recognized hosts Elizabeth and Ray Chenault and Pam Ingram, and the caterer, Deborah van Trece. He also recognized Keith Vansant and Keith Huffstetter for providing the wine, and Don Land and Carolyn Swain for acting as cashiers.

Directories maybe be picked up from Tom Wigley, Registrar.

Rachel Ficklin encouraged members to participate in a new mentoring program. John Hutchinson will assist her in this project.

Jeff McIntyre announced that the first Certification class of the 2012-2013 season would be held on Saturday, October 20. Sarah Hawbecker will teach a class in hymn playing at 10 AM at Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, and Brad Hughley will teach a class in figured bass at 1 PM at St. Bartholomew's Episcopal Church.

He announced that Dr. Wooyoun Ellie Choi, organist at Johns Creek Presbyterian Church, recently passed the Associate's exam. He recognized Joseph O'Berry, Organist/Choirmaster at Holy Trinity Parish in Decatur, for passing the Colleague exam.

Upcoming chapter events include the October 13 joint concert with the Atlanta Chapter of the ATOS at the Strand Theatre in Marietta, and the November 13 Concert by Maurice Clerc at Glenn Memorial Auditorium.

Several chapter members made announcements of upcoming events. The meeting adjourned at 7:40 PM, and was followed by a concert in the sanctuary by Dr. Carol Williams, Civic Organist of San Diego, California.

Respectfully submitted,
Betty Williford, Secretary
